FOREWORD

This publication is a preliminary annual report containing data on medical assistance payments and recipients of services under Title XIX of the Social Security Act (Medicaid). Summary information was cumulated from monthly statistical reports submitted by each State and/or jurisdictional agency, administering an approved Title XIX program on Federal Report Form HCFA-120: Monthly Statistical Report on Medical Care. Data on unduplicated numbers of recipients represent counts furnished on the annual medical report: Form HCFA-2082 for those States shown and reporting as of April 15, 1978. The estimated national unduplicated totals were derived from relationships between the average monthly numbers of recipients, previous annual data and the totals reported currently.

Information presented include medical payments, by form of payment, payments to medical vendors by type of service, average monthly numbers and the estimated unduplicated annual count of recipients.

HIGHLIGHTS

Fiscal year 1977 witnessed a decline in the number of Medicaid recipients for the first time since the inception of the program. There were an estimated 23.8 million recipients of one or more services during the year, a decrease of 3.2 percent from the previous fiscal year. Medicaid payments were made in behalf of 9.0 million persons per month.

Payments under the program rose to $16.8 billion, a 14.1 percent increase over fiscal year 1976. Fiscal year 1977 began in October of 1976 and was the first year of the new Federal fiscal cycle. Previous year(s) began in July. The increase in payments in fiscal year 1977 over a comparable calendar time period in the previous year was 9.8 percent. The medical care component of the consumer price index rose by twenty percent over fiscal year 1976. Thus, the increases in costs of medical services seem the significant factor for increases in expenditures under the program.

The increase in disabled recipients who consistently average the highest Medicaid payments, (See Table B) negated any cost savings to the program that may have occurred from decreases in other categories of recipients. There was yet another change in the caseload which is not obvious in Table A. The decrease in members of families with dependent children was entirely due to a decrease in children. Adults may have, in fact, registered a small increase. (Several States do not differentiate between adults and children in their monthly statistics. Thus, the breakout of family members in Table C are more extensively estimated than other data. Therefore, the difference in adults between the two years is not significant, due to estimation variability). The AFDC money payment caseload has experienced a similar pattern of change. 1/

Three out of four Medicaid recipients also received money payments under the programs Aid to Families with Dependent Children or Supplemental Security Income. The Medicaid dollars expended in behalf of cash-assistance recipients accounted for 53 percent of the total. The amount of Medicaid expenditures for noncash assistance recipients is relatively high. Among such recipients are persons who are institutionalized and the medically needy who incur large medical expenses. More than one-fourth of all Medicaid expenditures are for noncash assistance recipients aged 65 or over.

NOTE. TOTALS MAY NOT ADD DUE TO ROUNDING.

As shown in Table D, the annual unduplicated numbers of recipients represent a somewhat different configuration than the monthly statistics. Children constitute a much larger share of the caseload and the aged and disabled, less. This is largely a reflection of utilization patterns, with the aged and disabled using more services and appearing more frequently in the monthly caseload counts. The changes in the annual numbers were similar to the monthly, although the magnitudes of change differed.

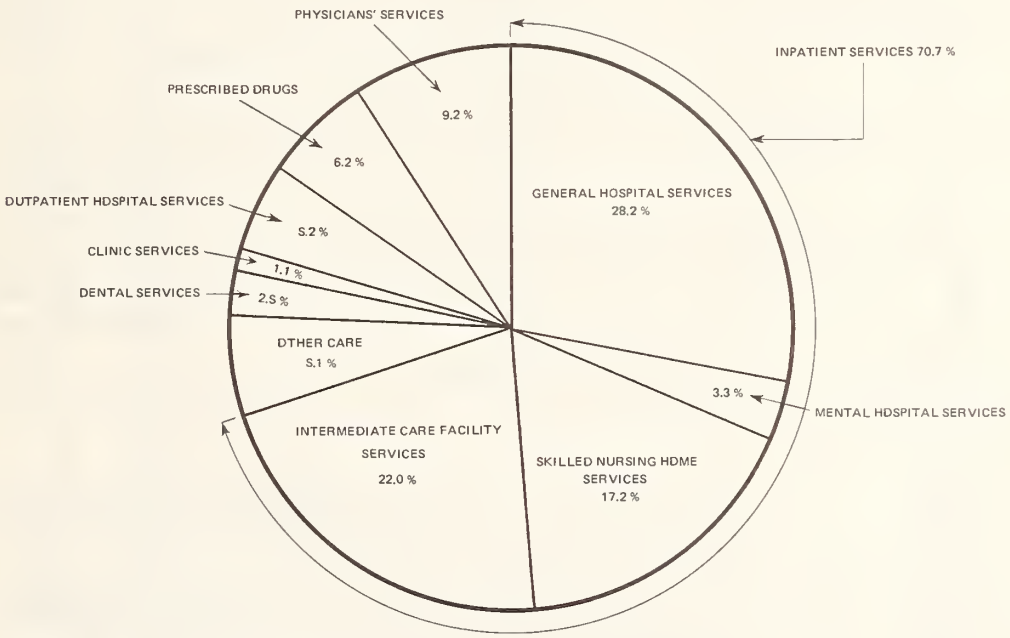
NOTE: Annual unduplicated recipient counts are preliminary. The 1976 data include estimates for 7 States and the 1977 data include estimates for 21 States. Estimates for missing States are based on ratios of annual unduplicated counts to average monthly counts for prior years for each eligibility category.

Payments for inpatient services accounted for a slightly larger percentage of Medicaid expenditures in fiscal 1977. The increase was entirely due to the consistently large increases in payments for intermediate care facility services (See Table E). Intermediate care facilities have exhibited rapid growth under the program in the last four years. In January 1972, payments to intermediate care facilities became payable as medical assistance under Title XIX. Payments for such services for indigent persons had previously been made out of the income maintenance program titles of the Social Security Act, mainly Old Age Assistance, Aid to the Blind and Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled, which were the State administered forerunners of the Supplemental Security Income program. Intermediate care facilities provide health related services but do not offer as high a level of care as skilled nursing facilities. Both types of facilities provide extended or long-term care.

FIGURE I.
DISTRIBUTION OF MEDICAID DOLLARS BY TYPE OF SERVICE
FISCAL YEAR 1977



Physicians' services and prescribed drugs, the leading outpatient and professional services under the program registered relatively small increases and both services comprised lesser proportions of Medicaid payments, than in the previous fiscal year. Outpatient hospital services represented over five percent of payments, however, the increase in payments for these services over the previous year is inaccurate due to a reporting problem previously uncovered in New York State. When New York is excluded, the increase in payments remained substantial (22 percent).

1/ In 1977, the Federal fiscal year changed to October through September. Previous fiscal years span a July through June time period.
2/ Includes per capita and premium payments and payments for screening services.
3/ Includes laboratory, radiological, other practitioners', home health, and family planning.
4/ Beginning January 1972, payments to intermediate care facilities were defined as medical assistance under Title XIX.
5/ Included in other care.
Percentage not computed; unequal bases.
6/ In April 1976, New York State reported a previous reporting problem, where clinic services included some outpatient hospital services. When the two service categories are considered in combination, the percentage increase in 1976 is 17.6 and in 1977 18.3.

DEFINITIONS AND INTERPRETATIONS

Medicaid (Title XIX of the Social Security Act) is an assistance program designed to provide medical assistance to specified groups of needy individuals. Such persons are classified into two main groups according to their maintenance assistance status, (1) those who are authorized to receive money payments for their basic necessities under public assistance programs such as Aid to Families With Dependent Children and Supplemental Security Income, and (2) those who are not receiving maintenance assistance payments even though some may, in fact, be eligible. There are four basic eligibility requirements for medical assistance: (1) age 65 and over; (2) blindness; (3) permanent and total disability; and (4) membership in families with dependent children. In addition, some States have exercised the option of including other needy persons who do not fall into any of the above categories. Such recipients are classified as 'Other Title XIX' recipients in the accompanying tables. Also, 'essential persons' (usually spouses) may also be eligible for medical care. For money payment recipients, these persons are usually classified according to the same eligibility factors as the recipient spouse.

In the table showing unduplicated numbers of recipients, a total represents the unduplicated number of persons for whom vendor payments were made for one or more types of care during the year.

Amounts of payments by type of service and basis of eligibility do not include premiums paid for supplementary medical insurance under the Medicare program.

Abbreviated definitions of the types of services for which data are reported are:

Inpatient hospital services - All items of care furnished to an inpatient and covered by the hospital's bill.

> General hospital - A hospital maintained primarily for inpatient care of acute illness or injury and for obstetrics or tuberculosis.
> Mental hospital - A hospital primarily engaged in providing psychiatric services for the diagnosis and treatment of mentally ill persons.

Skilled nursing facility services - All services furnished to inpatients of, and billed for by, a licensed or formally approved nursing facility that meets standards required under a title XIX program.

Intermediate care facility services - All services provided by an institution furnishing health-related care and services to individuals who do not require the degree of care provided by hospitals or skilled nursing facilities as defined under Title XIX.

Physicians' services - Services provided by an individual licensed under State law to practice medicine or osteopathy. Services covered by hospital bills are not included.

Dental services - Services, including ancillary services, provided by a dentist in the practice of his profession.

Other practitioners' services - Services of licensed practitioners other than physicians and dentists.

Outpatient hospital services - Services furnished to outpatients by a hospital.

Clinic services - Services furnished to outpatients by a facility which is not part of a hospital, but which is organized and operated to provide services to outpatients.

Laboratory and radiological services - Professional and technical laboratory and radiological services provided in an office or similar facility (other than a hospital outpatient department or clinic) or by a qualified laboratory.

Home health services - Services furnished a patient in his home, including: intermittent or part-time nursing service provided by a home health agency, or by a registered professional nurse or licensed practical nurse; medical supplies, equipment, and appliances for use in the home; and services of a home health aide.

Prescribed drugs - Drugs dispensed by a licensed pharmacist on the prescription of a practitioner licensed by law to administer such drugs, and drugs dispensed by a licensed practitioner to his own patients. This item does not include a practitioner's drug charges that are not separable from his other charges, or drugs covered by a hospital's bill.

Family planning services - Any medically approved means, including diagnosis, treatment, drugs, supplies, and devices, and related counseling which are furnished or prescribed by or under the supervision of a physician for individuals of child-bearing age for purposes of enabling such individual freely to determine the number and spacing of their children.

Other care - Any medical or remedial care not covered by the above.
